

Keeping up with the NIH

New GalterGuide Page with NIH News and Policy Announcements

The NIH is releasing policy updates, new policies and announcements at a rapid pace. It can be hard to keep up with all of these updates, since they may be posted on different pages at the NIH website.

Don't worry, though. Galter Library has collected the most recent announcements in a new page: NIH Announcements and Updates. We've created this page to be a one-stop for notices (NOTs), news items and other announcements from the NIH. We are doing our best to keep up with these developments, so you won't have to seek them out and find them.

Our site includes:

- Guide notices of interest to our research community (NOTs)
 - These will include policy notices, requests for information (RFIs), notices of information, notices of special interest
- News releases from the NIH Office of Science Policy
- Other NIH announcements that are relevant to Northwestern's research community

Announcements related to the NIH Public Access Policy will also be displayed on and integrated into our NIH Public Access Policy GalterGuide.

Printed: Monday, August 4, 2025 4:55 PM

Source: <https://galter.northwestern.edu/News/keeping-up-with-the-nih.pdf>